

AB&R®

Identify. track. manage.

What if...

- ...you knew exactly what assets you have in your laydown yard?
- ...you could easily associate items to their deployment location?
- ...you knew exactly what was on a vehicle prior to it leaving your yard?
- ...you could extend your inventory management to the jobsite?
- ...you could verify all the components have been delivered to a jobsite before your team arrives?
- ...you knew how many unused items were returned to their distribution location?
- ...you could automate the return process for equipment repair or refurbishment?

Now you can.

Every utility faces a common challenge: How to track materials, supplies, and other resources to ensure crews have what they need, when they need it.

Better asset management is the solution. AB&R and Zebra have the expertise to design and implement a custom tracking solution that gives you real-time visibility into every corner of your operations, with full integration into supply chain management systems like IBM Maximo.

AB&R's material handling software solution, Accuviti, uses Zebra barcode scanners, printers, RFID solutions, and rugged mobile devices to give you the power to track all of your assets at the push of a button—in your hand, on your tablet, or at your desk.

ZEBRA

Easily Identify, Track, and Manage Assets

AB&R® designs, deploys, and supports systems that track and manage critical assets from the warehouse, meter lab, and laydown yard to jobsites in the field. We rely on Zebra hardware and technology to create custom solutions that range from standalone systems to fully interfaced/integrated enterprise solutions.

Whether you're tracking parts and supplies or equipment and vehicles, and whether you're using traditional barcodes or RFID, AB&R and Zebra have your solution.
